

ANYTOWN LEADERSHIP PROGRAM

SPONSORSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

Building Arizona's next generation of leaders.

FROM THE ED

Dear Friend of Anytown,

Every June, something happens at camp that's hard to capture on paper: 85 people arrive at a campsite as strangers and leave with lasting friendships. A teen who has spent years feeling like the "only one" in their friend group meets others who understand their experience. A parent tells us their teen came home different - more confident, more curious and more willing to connect with people who are different from them.

Every year, we hear it again and again:

"Anytown changed my life."

And it's true. Since 1957, Anytown has helped generations of young people discover their voices, build relationships across differences and become leaders in their schools and communities.

We're proud of that legacy - and with your help, we'll continue building it for generations to come.

In 2026, we welcomed 58 delegates from 20 schools across Arizona, supported by $23,400 in scholarships that ensured cost was never the reason a young person missed out. Additionally, we impacted more than 200 students through our school programs.

As we look forward, we're growing on both fronts. At camp, we're preparing for a program of 80 delegates and staff without increasing the barrier to entry, because no young person should have to miss camp because of the $919 cost. Through our school workshops, we hope to reach 10 schools and 500 more young leaders who may never attend camp but can still benefit from this work.

This is where we need your help.

Your sponsorship helps cover the actual costs of this work - from camp facilities and transportation to delegate scholarships and school workshops. Your support allows more young people to participate, regardless of what their families or schools can afford.

We'd be grateful to have you partner with us. Whatever form your support takes, it will help another Arizona teen take part in an experience that participants have valued for nearly 70 years.

Partners in Peace,

Heather Checky

LEADERSHIP BEGINS WITH BELONGING

Young people are navigating complex differences, difficult conversations and an increasingly divided world.

Anytown Leadership Camp gives teens across Arizona a place to discover their voice, build meaningful relationships and develop the skills to lead with courage and empathy.

During an immersive week of learning and connection, delegates strengthen their communication, leadership and conflict-resolution skills. They return home ready to make a positive difference in their schools, families and communities.

Since 1957, Anytown has helped thousands of young people recognize their power to create change.

MEET AMANI

For most of her first week at Anytown, Amani didn't raise her hand.

She was a quiet high school freshman who was nervous about speaking up and taking up space.

Then, during a session about gender and identity, something shifted. Amani began to understand that she didn't have to make herself smaller to belong. She felt accepted for who she was, and little by little, she started to open up.

By the end of the week, Amani had found her voice and become one of our standout delegates.

When she returned to Anytown as a counselor, we saw just how much she had grown. She was loud, assertive and full of joy. Her excitement helped lead her cabin to victory in our cabin competitions.

That confidence stayed with her. Amani continues to be a strong leader in her school community and has returned to serve on Anytown's staff for two years in a row.

Earlier this year, she stood in front of hundreds of people at the Outstanding Phoenix Youth Leader Luncheon and presented scholarships on behalf of Anytown.

Watching Amani present those scholarships was one of those moments that reminded us why Anytown matters. The student who barely raised her hand during her first week at camp was now speaking confidently in front of hundreds of people - and helping other young leaders feel seen.

Your support makes stories like Amani's possible.

How your contribution funds Anytown

It costs about $47,500 to put on one week of camp. Here's where we need your help:

Covers the cost of the campground rental including meals for 80 people

Covers one charter bus round-trip, carrying 55 participants to camp

Funds camp merch: water bottles, name tags, shirts & bags for 100 people

Volunteer appreciation gifts for 25 staff volunteers

Brings our curriculum to a partner school.

Funds a 3-hour school program, reaching 50 students

Funds a 6-hour school program, reaching up to 50 students
